

Document Management & Imaging Systems, Inc. and Digitech Systems, Inc. are proud to announce our latest document retrieval software offering, PaperVision® Xpress. PaperVision Xpress is designed to address the segment of the market that requires a high-quality, value priced retrieval product appropriate for workgroup use. While similar to our previously available PaperVision Retrieval - Access Edition, PVX is a whole new product.

The introduction of PVX is specifically designed to meet the needs of the entry level or workgroup content management market. Market research indicates that the “workgroup retrieval” market desires a lower cost, basic functionality offering for basic retrieval needs. While PaperVision Enterprise (PVE) meets and exceeds this requirement, PVX is designed to simplify the user’s analysis for a solution. PVX provides a powerful, low-end retrieval product for an extremely reasonable investment.

When viewed in conjunction with our high end solution, PaperVision Enterprise, you, the user, will have the ability to see which system is best for you.

PaperVision Xpress is another tool we offer which differentiates the Digitech solution from our competitors without introducing additional complexity into the traditional “workgroup” solution.

Key features of PaperVision Xpress:

- PVX is a new product designed for the “retrieval only” market, not the enterprise market.
- PVX employs a file-based database. (Utilizing Microsoft® Jet/Access Database engine)
- PVX works seamlessly with Digitech’s PaperFlow and DataFlow capture software
